I did hear that but figured it was like most things in the federal government and will take another 10 years before serious discussion and action happens.

Thanks! I agree with you - I don't know if you've heard, but there has been talk about having Election Day be a holiday, in place of the Columbus Day holiday. Not sure how much traction it has though.

Moved to Thursday.

Holiday for election day – can the federal government start doing that? So many schedule and timecard issues would be resolved.

Nov 3rd is a holiday for Va b/c it's election day.

Kerri and I have no issue calling in, but wanted you to know in case others cannot attend.
